

May 22, 2006

Politics

Report: Execs Feel Pressured to Give to Corporate PACS

by Peter Overby

Morning Edition, July 5, 2004 · According to the findings of a survey in CFO Magazine, some executives feel obligated to give personal dollars to their companies' political action committees. The findings rekindle long-standing questions about whether corporate PACs are as voluntary as they're supposed to be. NPR's Peter Overby reports.